

Natural Breast Augmentation Now Available in Houston

HOUSTON, TX -- 05/13/09 -- An innovative procedure known as Natural Breast Augmentation is now available in the Houston area at Body Design by Marino, a medical treatment center located in Tomball. "We are pleased to be the first in Texas to offer this treatment," says Dr. Barbara Marino, Medical Director of Body Design by Marino. "We are simply responding to requests from our patients who are looking for breast augmentation without the scars or downtime of implant surgery." Natural Breast Augmentation removes unwanted fat from the abdomen, flanks or thighs where it is harvested and then injected into the breast tissue. Women undergoing this procedure can expect an increase of one to two cup sizes on average with 95% retention of the transferred fat. "By using the body's own fat, there is no risk of rejection," continues Dr. Marino. "Best of all, there are no incisions or surgery scars and the fat removed from other areas provides additional body contouring." The procedure is done in two stages in the same day. Natural Breast Augmentation is most effective for women who currently wear a bra size of A, B or C cup. The procedure is also available to women who have had prior medical or cosmetic breast surgery to fill in surgical defects. Dr. Marino is board certified by the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology and is a Fellow of the American College of Obstetrics and Gynecology, and a member of the International Society of Cosmetogynecologists, the American Society of Laparoscopic Surgeons, the Association of American Physicians and Surgeons, and the American Academy of Anti-Aging.
