

Breast augmentation surgery in the UK

BREAST ENLARGEMENT SURGERY (IMPLANTS AND AUGMENTATION) Breast enlargement is the UK's most common form of cosmetic surgery. Small breasts or breasts that have decreased in size following childbirth can be a source of embarrassment to a woman. But breast enlargement is one way to make you feel more feminine again.

Breast enlargement surgery involves surgically inserting an implant behind the natural breast tissue to increase the size of the breast. Breast augmentation is a similar procedure to breast enlargement surgery but is usually conducted to create better symmetry.

Our cosmetic surgeons are among the most experienced and highly-qualified in the field of breast enlargement and breast augmentation. In the UK, all our breast enlargement specialists are registered with the General Medical Council and the Medical Council in Ireland.

Types of breast enlargement and augmentation implants

There are many different types of implant available for breast enlargement and breast augmentation in the UK. Your surgeon will discuss these with you to help you decide what is right for you.

The procedure for breast enlargement surgery

The implant is normally inserted through an incision made in the natural crease beneath the breast. It is also possible to make the incision in the armpit or around the edge of the areola.

The procedure generally requires an overnight stay in hospital.

Recovery from breast enlargement surgery

Following breast enlargement surgery, you will need to keep your breasts well supported. Your stitches and/or dressings will be removed after seven days, at which time you can return to work.
