

Unrealistic Big Breasts warned against by Plastic Surgeons

EmaxHealth.com publishes an article on unrealistic breast size issue &Plastic Surgeons Come Out Against Unrealistic Big BreastsKudos go out to the British Association of Aesthetic Plastic Surgeons (BAAPS) for speaking out against "unrealistic anatomically impossible" breasts that are being used in advertisements to seduce female patients. The Association, which represents about a third of cosmetic surgeons in the UK, launched its own advertising campaign against parts of the trade because of the ads some clinics had posted showing a woman with a body that was digitally enhanced.
